Business Background and Description	H w, why and when the business was established, education/training and experience of the owner. Please give a backstory. Green Marvel was founded out of frustration and hope. The idea emerged after the directors learned about the alarming unemployment rates among MSc and PhD graduates in health and biological sciences — talented researchers struggling to find opportunities to apply their skills. Initially, the vision was to create a company that could generate meaningful employment for highly skilled scientists while making a social impact. However, the purpose of the business quickly deepened when co-founder Veronica noticed a growing issue among women and children — widespread hair loss that often led to diminished confidence and emotional distress. After investigating the statistics and hearing personal stories, she saw an opportunity to make a genuine difference. The mission evolved from simply creating jobs to restoring confidence and self-esteem through natural, science-backed hair care solutions. The second co-founder, Ramoagi, was personally driven to perfect the formulation after his young daughter developed a persistent scalp infection that conventional treatments could not resolve. When Green Marvel's prototype products helped heal her scalp and stimulate regrowth, restoring both her hair and happiness, it became clear that the company's purpose was far greater than originally imagined. Since its founding, Green Marvel has become a symbol of empowerment — blending scientific expertise with compassion to develop 100% organic, effective hair care products. Nothing gives the team more joy than hearing clients share their heartfelt testimonials about regained confidence and happiness.

Business Challenges	1. Regulatory and Compliance Requirements: Meeting cosmetic product regulations, safety testing, and registration standards is costly and time-consuming, creating delays in product certification and large-scale market entry. 2. Limited Access to Finance and Infrastructure: Difficulty in obtaining funding and production space restricts the company's ability to acquire advanced equipment, increase output, and build a dedicated processing facility. 3. Market Competition and Brand Visibility: Competing with established cosmetic brands that have larger marketing budgets and retail networks makes it challenging for Green Marvel to gain nationwide visibility and consumer trust. 4. Supply Chain and Skilled Workforce Constraints: Inconsistent access to quality raw materials and a shortage of skilled technical staff hinder consistent production, product development, and the company's ability to meet growing demand.
Business Needs	1. Manufacturing Equipment: Funding is required to acquire essential production machinery and tools to increase manufacturing capacity and improve efficiency in producing Green Marvel's organic cosmetic products. 2. Land, Infrastructure, and Preparation: Support is needed for the acquisition of land to establish a processing plant and integrated herbal farm, including land assessment, preparation, fencing, and installation of irrigation systems. 3. Operational and Working Capital: Financial assistance is required to cover daily operational costs, raw materials, utilities, and other functional expenses necessary to sustain and expand production. 4. Company Vehicle: A vehicle is needed to facilitate product distribution, raw material collection, and logistics for business operations and outreach activities.
